

Gilad Atzmon

and The Orient House Ensemble

REFUGE

Enja Records

released: October 1st 2007

When I founded the Orient House Ensemble, I had just a few tunes in mind, but I also had a great belief. I was sure that music was capable of bringing people together

Eight years later, I must admit that I may have got it wrong. Peace has never looked so far away.

The world is becoming more and more hostile. Yet, we, have done something, a thing that has very little cosmic significance. We have learned to sing together. We didn't plan to learn, we didn't educate ourselves. It just grew on us. Over the years our personal fears faded away. Our insecurities melted down. Without realising it, our music made it into a language with some very personal shapes and colours.

Music has become our refuge. Gilad Atzmon

Refuge is the latest album from renowned world-bop saxophonist, composer and band leader Gilad Atzmon. Drawing on jazz, electronica, Arabic music and the urban sounds of the 21st century it's a potent brew taking the listener to a space beyonds words. Arguably Atzmon's most powerful album it is less overtly political than 2005's musiK or his recent Artie Fishel project, but like 2003's Exile still packs an explosive punch.

Shifting seamlessly from beautiful jazz-noir and catchy world gooves to hard-blowing heavy metal bebop, Refuge offers music for the heart, soul and head. It also marks the return of Atzmon's Orient House Ensemble featuring long term partners Frank Harrison piano, keys and electronics, Yaron Stavi double and electric bass, Asaf Sirkis drums and Atzmon himself on saxophones and electronics. The band's genuine empathy and powerful interplay allows them to explore new structures as well as play Atzmon's expressive music with the intensity and verve which is at the heart of the best jazz. Hard-hitting but deeply thoughtful, this is the sound of a band running headlong into the future.

The Refuge Tour starts in Brighton on Sept 7th and takes in over 30 dates including Derby, Manchester, Swansea, St Ives, Bristol, Nottingham, Norwich, Oxford and London. Full tour dates are attached.

Notes for editors

A BBC award winning saxophonist, composer and band leader Gilad Atzmon was born in Israel in 1963 and had his musical training at the Rubin Academy of Music, Jerusalem (Composition and Jazz) A multi-instrumentalist he plays Soprano, Alto, Tenor and Baritone Saxes, Clarinet, Sol, Zurna and Flutes.

Coming to the UK in 1994, Atzmon recovered an interest in playing the music of the Middle East, North Africa and Eastern Europe that had been in the back of his mind for years. He founded the Orient House Ensemble in London and started re-defining his own roots in the light of political reality. Since then the Orient House Ensemble has toured all over the world. The Orient House Ensemble includes Asaf Sirkis on Drums, Yaron Stavi on Bass and Frank Harrison on keys.

Until 1994 Atzmon was a producer-arranger for various Israeli dance and rock projects, performing in Europe and the USA playing ethnic Jewish soul music. Highly involved in the Israeli musical scene he recorded for 'Ofra Haza' , Yeuda Poliker and many others. He also toured with Memphis Slim and supported many international jazz names such as Jack De Johnette, Michel Petrucciani, Richie Byrache and many others. As a member of the Blockheads, Gilad has also recorded and performed with the likes of Ian Dury, Robbie Williams, Sinéad O'Connor and Paul McCartney. A prolific and often controversial writer, Atzmon's essays are widely published and his novels 'Guide to the perplexed' and 'My One And Only Love' have been translated into 24 languages. Over the years Gilad Atzmon's music has moved more and more towards a cultural hybrid. As a bandleader and reed player he has been amazing his listeners with his powerful personal style that combines great bebop artistry and Middle-Eastern roots in a sophisticated, sometimes ironical manner. Influenced by Coltrane's powerful approach on the sax, Gilad's live performances are simply breathtaking and often overwhelming.

"Atzmon is an astonishing musician with a seemingly effortless ability to demolish and rebuild any old tune he chooses to play."- TIME OUT

"A formidable improvisational array...a local jazz giant steadily drawing himself up to his full height...a blast of fresh air in the UK"-John Fordham, The Guardian

"Atzmon sends his soprano sax and clarinet soaring over complex rhythms from all points of the globe with a poetry that never forfeits control." London Metro

"Audiences are clearly bowled over with Atzmon's whirlwind approach ... dynamic, charismatic and ... exasperating!" Jazz UK
